Miss Annie McNally of Marland Village was given a surprise party by a number of friends last Saturday evening and was presented with a gold watch. John J. McCann of Lowell made the presentation remarks. During the evening refreshments were served and dancing enjoyed.

In speaking last week of the three grandsons of the late John Dove entering Harvard College at the same time, the writer, although he got the information from Mr. G. W. W. Dove, in some way mixed up the names. The names of the young men are Percy Dove, Reginald Johnson, and Harold Blanchard.

The Board of Registrars met Monday evening and revised the voting lists preparatory to the fall election. They also decided upon the following times for meetings: Oct. 8, 12, 17, and 22 from 7.30 to 9.30 p.m. and Saturday, Oct. 27 from 12 m. to 10 p.m., at the town house; at Ballardvale in the old schoolhouse, Oct. 15 and 26, from 7.30 to 9.30 p.m.

Higgins had a very enjoyable "brake ride" to Boxford, with dinner at Magoons, last Tuesday. Nothing can beat a fine day and such a turnout as Mr. Higgins tally-ho, for a combination to afford an enjoyable outing, and the surprise of such an excellent dinner as was served at Magoons, added much to the day's pleasure.

Dr. Sidney H. Carney, treasurer of the New York Life Insurance Co., has been visiting friends in Andover and vicinity this week. Some incidents of family history brought to his attention have aroused a strong interest in our famous old town, and the field for a local antiquarian has broadened. It would be just as well for all of us now before our older citizens' memories fail for good, to get the old houses all labelled, the family papers looked over. We want an imposing array of historical documents and items for that coming anniversary, and there will be so many questions we shall wish we had asked when it is too late.

There is to be another assembly in G. A. R. Hall next Tuesday evening with music by the Andover Orchestra.

A large sign containing advertisements of Lawrence merchants has been put in the Post Office waiting room. A great many objections to its being there are heard.

Adam Lindsay, formerly overseer of the twisting department at the Smith & Dove Mills, has secured a similar position in the Worcester Thread Mills. He will begin work Monday.

Prof. Churchill preached the sermon at the ordination of Mr. O. E. Hardy in Lyndeboro, N. H. Mr. Hardy was a member of the class of '94 of the Andover Theological Seminary.

Our supplement to-day and, also, the permanent time table on Page 3, shows all the new local changes in the Boston and Maine time schedule, which went into effect last Sunday.

Dr. Quint will open a series of lectures upon the general subject of Congregationalism Friday evening, Oct. 12, in Bartlet Chapel. All are cordially invited to attend.

Miss Julian, the well-known dressmaker, who has been delayed by sickness from earlier opening her dressmaking rooms, will have rooms this year at the residence of Jos. F. Cole on Elm Street, where she may be found any time after next week.

W. H. Higgins, our well-known stable man, tells us that winter is coming by his reduction in the number of his horses. Contemplated changes in stable accommodations makes it still more necessary to reduce his stock, and he is therefore offering some big values in second-hand horses for the next month.

The contract for lighting the streets between the town and the Electric Company expires to-day, but we shall not have dark streets just yet, as the Electric Company intend to make up for the nights when we had no lights on account of disabled machinery, by running the entire system some time longer.

Monday afternoon Thomas Lowe and wife, who live in West Parish near the Lawrence road, were brought into court by Chief of Police Mears, charged with assault upon Daniel Donovan of Lawrence. Donovan pastures cattle near Lowe's, and while up there he claimed to have been assaulted with an iron bar and knife. Judge Poot found them guilty and gave Lowe 90 days. She was allowed to go home.

Last Sunday was observed as rallying day by the South Church Sunday School and there was a large attendance, taking into consideration the unfavorable condition of the weather. The interesting feature of the service was an excellent address by Rev. Clark Carter, city missionary of Lawrence, who spoke of his work among the city children.

Andover Conference.

The semi-annual meeting of the Andover conference of Congregational churches will be held in Methuen with the Congregational church there next Tuesday morning and afternoon. Following is the program:

Morning session—9.30, organization; 10, discussion, "Best Methods of Bible Study," Rev. Erastus Blakeslee and others; 11.30, missionary address "Church Building Society," by Rev. L. H. Cobb, D.D.; 12, devotional service, led by Rev. William E. Wolcott of Lawrence.

Afternoon—2, reports of committees; 2.30, discussion, "The Relation of the Y. P. S. C. E. to the Church," opened by William Shaw, of the United Society of Y. P. S. C. E., followed by Rev. J. M. Greene, D.D., and others; 4, missionary address, "Home Missions," by William G. Pufferfoot.

Rev. Mr. Blakeslee, who will open the discussion of the topic on Bible study, is the author of a series of Sunday School lessons, a rival of the International lessons, and consequently is an authority on the subject. Dr. Cobb, who will speak for the Church Building Society, was formerly pastor of the Congregational church of North Andover. He is an enthusiast in his department. Mr. Shaw ought to say something of interest on the relation of the Y. P. S. C. E. to the church, and he inimitable Pufferfoot could not possibly talk on home missions as long as the congregation will want to hear him.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman, of Dimondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist Church at Rives Junction she was brought down with Pneumonia succeeding La Grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at Arthur Bliss' Drug Store. Regular size 50c. and $1.00.

An Andover Man Robbed.

William Hutchinson, a farmer about 37 years of age, who claims Andover as his home, was robbed of his pocket-book containing $15, in Lawrence Tuesday afternoon. He went to Lawrence that morning, and while making the rounds of the city became acquainted with three young fellows, who, on finding he had some money, accompanied him on his walk.

They went across the Spicket, and when at a convenient place on Park St., Hutchinson was pounced upon by his "friends" and knocked down. When he recovered from the shock he found he had been relieved of his pocket-book. The robbery had been witnessed by a number of people, among whom was Officer Kelleher who was off duty. He promptly telephoned to the police station and officers were soon on the track of the thieves. Two of them, Eugene Sweeney and James Friel, were soon captured and locked up. They were charged with highway robbery and the case continued until this morning.

Foot Ball.

Rodgers, captain of last year's Andover team, will not play foot-ball at Yale this year but will try rowing.

The Park Club eleven will play the Phillips Street team to-morrow afternoon on the Academy campus.

To-morrow afternoon the Phillips footballists go to Cambridge to meet the Harvard Varsity team. Of course it is expected that Harvard will win by a large score, and we can only hope that Andover will make a creditable showing.

The Exeter Athletic Association team was no match for Phillips last Saturday afternoon and the Academy boys won easily 34 to 0 in thirty minutes. Holt's re-appearance in the Andover line seemed to brace up the whole team, and the playing showed a marked improvement over any previous work. The playing of the backs and of Holt, Chadwell and Lindenberg was brilliant at times. Higley, a new guard, made a good impression. What Andover most needs is good coaching, and the management is endeavoring to get it.

If ever a Phillips team deserved a victory it was on Wednesday in the game with Tufts. Andover earned it squarely, but through close and impartial decisions of the referee, who was an ex-captain of Tufts, she was deprived of one and probably two touch-downs in the second half. Andover had the kick-off, and Tufts made a touch-down and goal in five minutes. After this, Andover took a decided brace and kept the ball in Tufts' territory. On good work by the backs and Holt, Elliott was forced over the line, but he failed to kick a goal. The half ended with the score 6-4 in favor of Tufts. In the second half Andover played all around her opponents, going through all parts of the Tufts' rush-line, with ease. Twice Andover carried the ball across the goal-line, and both times was deprived of a touch-down by the referee. In one case the decision was a very close one to make, but in the other Andover made a touch-down fair and square. This meant a victory, as only once in the second half did Tufts get the ball to the center of the field. Elliott, Chadwell and Lindenberg were laid up by injuries in this half.

Cricket Game.

A cricket game was played last Saturday afternoon on the local grounds, between a scrub Andover team and the Lawrence Athletics. Andover won, 45 to 26. Haddon made 16 not out, and Porter 14. A feature of the game was the underhand bowling of Porter.

A teachers' institute will be held under the direction of the state board of education in the High School building at Lowell to-morrow. Following is the program:

MacDonald, agent of the board; 11, methods in French, Miss Mary Stone Bruce, high school, Newton; 11, method in history, Miss Caroline Close, English High School, Cambridge; 1.30 p.m., botanical biology, Chas. H. Clark, Sunbora Academy, Kingston, N.H.; 1.30, methods in Latin, Mr. MacDonald; 2.30, conference; Subject, "Can the programs suggested by the committee of ten be carried out in the high school? Are there any important subjects omitted from this program?"

"Gent" is not Modern Slang.

The word "gent" nowadays seems to wear its hat cocked on one side of the head, and to walk with a caddish swagger of vulgar self-importance. But I know a worthy old lady in the country who calls her husband the "old gent," using it as a title of respect, and such it was in her childhood and long before. In 1754 the Reverend Samuel Davies, afterward president of Princeton College, travelling in England, describes the Reverend Dr. Lardner as "a little pert old gent," epithets that would not be flattering to a minister to-day, nor even dignified for a minister to use. "Pert" here has the sense of "lively"—much as a Kentuckian might use "peart," or a New Englander "perk." Indeed, I suspect that Davies gave the word the sound of "peart." That Davies used "gent" as a term of respect is shown by his characterization of another reverend doctor as "a venerable, humble, and affectionate old 'gent.'" It will not do, therefore, to account a word recent because of its slanginess. When a smoker professes fondness for "the weed," he does not dream that he is using an epithet applied to tobacco by King James I. in 1620, and that nearly two hundred years earlier than James, in the reign of Edward VI., the hop-plant just coming into England was called "the wicked weed." What plant had worn this title of contempt before the hop I do not know.—Edward Eggleston in the Century for October.

Harvesting Apples.

William Curtis of Wilton, N.H., who has in past years bought and shipped to England thousands of apples, enlightened my darkened understanding the other day as to what constitutes "No. 1" and "No. 2" apples. A No. 1 apple must be large enough to be unable to pass through a two-inch auger hole. It must be picked from the tree and free from bruises, and as a rule free from worm holes, although a worm hole in the blossom end, or a slight imperfection which is dry and not a bruise, would not be ruled out of a "No. 1" barrel. No. 2's must not comprise windfalls nor very small apples, and those very imperfect are to be put with the "cider" apples. Mr. Curtis says that smaller apples are better to ship than very large ones. In fact, he says, if you have very fine fruit, keep that to sell in America and ship the poorer. The foreign people who buy American apples cannot afford to "get the best."

Woman in New Zealand.

The New Zealand legislature, which is the product of the vote of both male and female citizens, is displaying a very creditable determination to discharge its business. The lower house has banished all intoxicating drinks from the bar of the Chamber, and, further, has passed a resolution limiting the duration of speeches. Henceforth, no one may speak longer than half an hour; and in committee, no member may speak more than four times, nor longer than ten minutes. It is a curious comment upon the proverbial sayings as to female loquacity, that the first antipodean session in which women had a voice should have put a drastic time limit upon the chatter of parliament. Another measure which has been approved by the lower house is a bill simplifying the entrance to the legal profession, and admitting women to practice at the bar.—From "The Progress of the World," October Review of Reviews.

Funny Bits.

Sea Captain: "There is no hope! The ship is doomed. In an hour we will all be dead!" Seasick Passenger: "Thank heaven."—Bloomington Eye.

She: "Did you ever know of a married couple who never quarreled?" He: "Yes, one. They were killed in a runaway accident as they left the church."—New York Herald.

"Do you think," said the intellectual young woman, "that there is any truth in the theory that big creatures are better natured than small ones?" "Yes," answered the young man, "I do. Look at the difference between the Jersey mosquito and the Jersey cow."—Life.

Second Husband: "You needn't growl because I don't work. All your first husband did was to whittle."

Wearily Wife: "Yes, but I always found enough shavings after he got through to build the fire in the morning."

"Why don't you work? You're an able-bodied man," she asked the tramp. "I know that. I know it well; but I've only myself to look after, and if I got work I might be depriving a man with a wife and children of a job, ma'am."—Harper's Bazar.

Farmer Wayback (starting home from the station): "Please ma'am, do you wear false teeth?"

Fair Boarder (for the summer): "Sir!"

Farmer Wayback: "I don't mean to be curious. Only this road is a little rough, and ef your teeth ain't good and fast, you'd better put 'em in your pocket."—New York Weekly.

Mrs. Suburb: "Why don't you take little Johnny to the county fair? He's just crazy to see that balloon ascension and parachute jumper."

Mr. Suburb: "I can't afford it." "It won't cost over 25 cents to get him in."

"No, but it will cost us about $10 for new umbrellas."

Mrs. Gould's Smart Gowns.

Mrs. Gould affects Gainsborough yellow. A good example of a gown after the style of this painter, worn at Dorners' reception, was of vicuna cloth of a delicate shade of orange color.

Round the hem of the skirt was a band of black and gold Italian braid point. The vest was of black silk covered with the moe. A small jacket of the cloth came down to meet a high shaped belt of the lace. The sleeves were large and puffed with lace epaulets and cuffs.

But pre-eminently smart and recherche are Mrs. Gould's yachting gowns. The harbor of Cowes shows many beautiful yachting toilets, but among all the titled dames of fashion none is more tastefully dressed than the hostess of the Atlanta. All her gowns and hat bands are painted or embroidered with the word Atlanta and her monogram and yachting design.

Mrs. Gould wears often a very becoming red-linen yachting dress over a loose blouse of black satin, embroidered with the Atlanta flag.

Another handsome white linen sailor costume is made with a blue serge collar, with white braid and black sailor knot and waistband.

Still another pretty costume worn is of navy blue serge trimmed with white cloth revers and embroidered with red and gold anchors. The skirt has the same trimmings at the edge. The cap and vest are of blue and white stock-inette.—London Queen.

Some Notable Nuns.

Cloistered nuns, writes a Paris correspondent, are said to die early, and those active women of the orders of St. Thomas de Villeneuve, St. Vincent de Paul and the Augustines, sisterhoods, to live to great ages. I know a sister of charity who was engaged in the cholera wards of the Hotel d' Dieu in 1832. She refuses to retire from active service and has three times volunteered to attend smallpox patients during epidemics. Sister Rosalie, who organized the French military hospital service in the Crimea, lived to a great age. The other day the golden wedding of Sister Delphine with the Order of St. Vincent de Paul was celebrated at Romainville. She was a full year a novice before she took the black veil and has been 50 years a schoolteacher. Sister Delphine was 80 when she determined to take the vows. By the rules of the Order of St. Vincent de Paul the nuns are not allowed to aspire to extraordinary virtue through mortification. Such efforts might feed pride and cause self righteousness. The teaching is that those who want to be angels before God call them to a higher world are liable to fall lower than ordinary mortals.

Bicycles on the Sidewalk.

A good many complaints are being heard about bicycle riding on the sidewalks and it is time our authorities took some action in regard to this nuisance. Undoubtedly a larger part of our student population are ignorant of the law in the matter, but they are among the least of the offenders, as some of our citizens who know better are constant breakers of the statute.
Even they, however, may not know that it is no longer a town by-law they are breaking, but rather a new state statute, and that it may be understood by our citizens, we print the clause herewith:

Chap. 479, Sect. 1. Whoever, without the permit provided for in section three of this act rides in a public highway or town way, street, square, or park a bicycle or tricycle at a rate of speed exceeding ten miles an hour, or rides such machine on a sidewalk, or rides such machine in the streets, squares or parks of any city when the same is not provided with a suitable alarm bell adapted for use by the rider, or after sunset rides the same in any public way, square, or park, whether within or without the limits of a city, when such machine is not provided with such suitable alarm bell, shall be punished by fine not exceeding twenty dollars for each offense, and shall be further liable for all damages occasioned to any person by such unlawful act.

We hope our authorities will arouse themselves and see that this is enforced.

The Strike at Marland Mills.

Under bold headlines several of our contemporaries informed their readers last Wednesday that the weavers at Marland Mills had struck for more pay, and in their report made statements of the low wages, etc., that caused the same. To assure ourselves of the truth of some of these sensational statements, a call was made at the mills on Thursday, and the following was found to be the state of affairs. The weavers were recently started on new work with a price fixed in accordance with other grades of work. At the start the work went a little slow and the wages seemed insufficient to the help. A compromise was in order here, but instead the weavers went out and the weave room was still for a day. Mr.
Sam D. Stevens and Supt. Jowett were prompt to adjust the difficulty, and everything was running smoothly yesterday. This is a short account of the difficulty in which labor was undoubtedly hasty, and in which capital was prompt to compromise.

In commenting on this one newspaper says that "if a weaver is smart $5.25 may be earned in a week." This is either an intentional lie or a bad piece of reporting for no mention is made of the fact that another loom is earning at the same time about $4 on plain work, making a week's wages average about $9. The facts are that good weavers at the Marland Mills are earning as good wages as at any mill around here, and when we are told of some of them earning from $10 to $12 a week, with the average of all good ones over $9 a week, then "as good wages" mean pretty good wages for women to earn.

We have written at some length of this matter, because we know that it was put wrongly before the people.
Wages are none too high in all of our manufactories, and in some cases we are confident they are too low, but we are convinced that little is ever to be gained by striking against them, especially where a class of operatives are so well paid as the weavers at Marland Mills have been for a few years past.

Editorial Cinders.

Say workman! Do you pay any more for a roast of beef or a barrel of flour than you are obliged to by the market price? No, and the man who buys your labor, trades in the same way. We wish the market price were twice as much as it is, because more money, even though it gets no more happiness, is always more satisfying, but it is well to remember that supply and demand rules it all.

Oh dear! Oh dear! Shall we ever be delivered from that kind of men who pay no taxes but who want to direct the spending of it all?

We wish our selectmen might get sufficient authority (and money) to fix up the entire length of Main Street. It is a veritable "slough of despond" from town to Morton Street this morning.

Some advertisers bury their dollars, and others float them so high in the air as to be out of sight, like the new sign in the Post Office, but the shrewd ones who want Andover trade use the TOWNSMAN. About two columns of that kind start new this week.

The Special Town Meeting.

The special town meeting Tuesday evening was attended by about one hundred and twenty-five voters, and "everything went" without much discussion, as no outlay of money was asked for. Town Clerk Marland read the warrant and called for the election of moderator.
George H. Poor had all the votes cast, 21, and took the chair.

On motion of John E. Smith it was voted in answer to Article 2, that the Selectmen be authorized to make contracts with the Massachusetts Highway Commission for the construction of such highway or highways laid out or taken charge of or hereafter to be laid out or taken charge of by said Commission within the town, in accordance with the provisions of law in this behalf. As all did not understand what was meant by this article, Chairman Bliss of the Selectmen stated that $300,000 had been appropriated by the state for highways, and this amount will be assessed upon the several cities and towns in connection with their state tax. Now the town has got to settle anyway, and by getting this authority from the town the Selectmen may be able to get some portion of the $300,000 spent on our main road. In this case Andover labor would get work.

Under Article 3 it was voted to adopt by-laws as required by the Acts of 1894, relating to plumbing, draining and ventilating. Mr. Bliss presented the Haverhill by-laws as a sample, and stated that they were nearest applicable to Andover's needs. As the law is obligatory and must be attended to before December, it was quickly voted.

It was next voted that the town adopt Section 11 of the Acts of 1894 and that an inspector of buildings be appointed by the Selectmen to enforce all by-laws that are or may be established, to regulate the inspection, materials, construction, alteration and use of buildings and other structures, the compensation of such inspector to be determined by the Selectmen.

The next article called for the revocation of the Australian ballot in town elections, which was adopted at the last annual town meeting. The moderator stated that it had been adopted hastily and that the town had neglected to adopt all that was required. As a two-thirds vote was necessary to revoke this law, a hand vote was taken and the result was 68 for revocation and 3 against.

Article 6 brought the following motion, which was carried: That the Selectmen be directed to number buildings in the streets of the town so far as may be necessary to secure free delivery of mails, and that the sum of $250 be appropriated therefor to be taken from any appropriation which may show an unexpended balance to that amount at the end of the fiscal year.

Under other business it was voted that the Selectmen be a committee to revise the town by-laws and present them to the annual town meeting for approval.

The County School Masters' Club in Town.

A fine dinner, a beautiful ride, and a good social time was the way a member gave the result of the meeting of the Essex County School Masters' Club to the TOWNSMAN reporter last Saturday afternoon. The meeting was called together at the Mansion House at 1.30 o'clock, when Proprietor Hitchcock served one of his excellent dinners. After a thorough enjoyment of this, the party was conveyed about the town on W. H. Higgins' brake and in two carriages. All were much pleased with the ride.

Supt. Baldwin and J. Newton Cole, chairman of the school committee, were guests, and the others present were: C.
L. Davis, Thomas G. Rees, O. B. Bruce, Elmer Case, of Lynn; J. K. Cole, Peabody; John W. Perkins, W. P. Hayward, of Essex; Stone, Salem; C. W. Haley, Haverhill; B. F. Dame, J. C. Crombie, J. A. Ewart, E.
S. Riley, John Barker, A. W. Scribner, Lawrence; Channing Folsom, Dover; C.
C. Burbeck, Danvers. Principal Dame of Lawrence is president of the club.

Sad Death of William H. Phelps.

The suicide of William H. Phelps early Wednesday morning, at his home on Morton Street, was a very sad affair, and one which brings out much sympathy for the bereaved widow. For over a year Mr.
Phelps has been ailing with nervousness and mental trouble. Early on this morning he awoke with one of his violent headaches and medicine which he was in the habit of using gave no relief. Finally about 5 o'clock Mrs. Phelps, against the wishes, it is said, of Mr. Phelps, went for Dr. Richards. When she returned and was removing her wraps she thought she could hear water running in the kitchen, and upon investigation discovered her husband lying on the floor with one side of his throat cut. He was then beyond all earthly help. It is evident that during Mrs. Phelps' absence he had taken a razor, gone to the sink, made the gash, and had then fallen to the floor.

It had been noticed lately by many that Mr. Phelps had acted strangely, despondent and melancholy, and these feelings, together with the terrible head trouble, caused him to commit the rash deed in a moment of frenzy.

Mr. Phelps was a well-known and respected resident, having spent a number of years in West Parish and about a year on Morton Street. He was a machinist by trade, and for years was foreman of a shop in Lawrence, and worked there until some difficulty with his eyes forced him to give up that work. He then bought a small farm near Haggatt's Pond, about opposite the Perry Jefferson place, and lived there until the last year or so.

Only the day before the deed Mr. Phelps went to Abbott Village and watched the progress of the Smith & Dove buildings, but some persons there thought he acted strangely.

Mr. Phelps was 59 years old and a native of North Andover. During his residence here he was honored as an upright, honest, and straight-going citizen. He was a member of the West Parish Church and of United Brothers Lodge of Odd Fellows, Lawrence. He was also a Mason.

Medical Examiner Howe of Lawrence viewed the remains about 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, when they were taken in charge by Undertaker Messer.
The funeral took place this afternoon, and interment was in the cemetery at North Andover.

Our Kindergarten School.

On invitation of Supt. Baldwin, the TOWNSMAN reporter spent a most enjoyable hour in the kindergarten school at Abbott Village yesterday morning. Like many others, the writer had no definite idea of the work of a kindergarten, and perhaps shared in a very general feeling that it was a place where children could go, have a good time, and derive no special benefit. This is doubtless the case with many so-called kindergartens, but that the true kindergarten is something entirely different and a great force in the proper development of young minds, both morally and intellectually, can be shown to anyone who will take the pains to visit a school which is under the guidance of skilled kindergarten teachers.

Such a school, we believe, is now in operation at the Abbott Village schoolhouse. It is free and is run at the expense of the Society of Organized Charity. Miss Mary Leland, who gives every evidence of being an adept at the work, is in charge, and she is most ably assisted by Miss Mabel Vinton, who has taken a kindergarten course, and Miss Gertrude Roberts.

The school has been at work only about three weeks, but in that time the teachers have got a wonderful hold on the children, whose ages run from 3 to 5 years. The first lessons which the teachers attempt to inculcate into the young minds are attention, interest and obedience, and each of these characteristics was shown to a marked degree. Each child seemed full of interest, and eyes and ears were on the alert to see who could answer first the questions of the teacher. The variety of work imparts ideas of form, size, color, number, and unconsciously plants the seeds which later will be recognized in more advanced work. Motion songs were prettily sung and exercises in marching were given to music of the piano, played by Miss Roberts. Other methods of work, showing how the children were profiting by their training, were shown, but time and space prevent us from going into further details. To anyone that is interested a visit to this school would repay them.

These children, who are mostly from the common classes, and who perhaps, at least many of them, have not had the opportunity for that training which children ought to have, are certainly reaping a great benefit. It raises the moral atmosphere in which they live, and gives them a splendid start for the common schools, which they are now too young to enter. They learn games and stories, and these they communicate to their brothers and sisters and in this way do much good. It is also a great relief to tired mothers to have their children cared for a part of the day. The true kindergarten school is certainly a great blessing to every community and should be welcomed at any time.

Where else would you go for Cloaks, Suits and Furs but to a Cloak Store?
Would you go to a boot and shoe store for cotton cloth? When you want a cloak, a suit, or a fur garment of any kind, and want the best for the least money, go to headquarters, the Paris Cloak and Suit Store, Central Building, Lawrence, where you will find the largest line, and at prices to suit every purse.

Essex County Christian Endeavor Convention.

The third annual convention of the Essex County Christian Endeavor Union, which met in the Market Street Baptist Church, Amesbury, Mass., Oct. 2, was one of the most successful conventions ever held. There were nearly one thousand delegates present, representing one hundred and twelve societies in the union.
The report of the District Secretary, J.
N. Dummer, showed that the work throughout the country was in a flourishing condition. The societies are divided into seven local unions. The special work of the Andover union was reported to be in the line of increasing the effectiveness of the local societies in their general church work.

In addition to the quarterly meetings, special parlor conferences on the work of the different committees are being held.
To these conferences the officers of the union, the presidents of the local societies, and all the members of the special committee whose work is under consideration are invited. Occasionally the pastors meet with them to advise them in regard to special work. Practical plans and methods are discussed and much enthusiasm aroused.

Mr. W. B. Abbott of Salem read an interesting paper on "How can the Christian Endeavor Society improve the mid-week prayer meeting?" Mrs. Charles Bishop of Lynn gave an inspiring address on "The Missionary Interest: Is it any of Our Business?" The Junior Christian Endeavor Societies were highly entertained by Mrs. James L. Hill of Salem.

The principal address of the afternoon was by Rev. Smith Baker, D. D., of Boston, on the topic, "Christian Citizenship." In his eloquent address, Dr. Baker emphasized five conditions of Christian citizenship; intelligence, impartiality, righteousness, independence and conscientiousness. As these five principles are pressed to the front our ship of state will stand any waters through which she shall be called to pass. She can meet foes without, and she can conquer foes within. With these she shall be to the world the guard of civilization. With these she will welcome to herself all the world can send her from the highest to the lowest.

The evening address was by Rev. H.
T. McEwen, of New York City, on "Capturing Moral Niagaras." In his magnificent address Mr. McEwen showed the wonderful latent forces and possibilities in all our churches that were waiting for development.

The singing was a special feature of the convention. Mrs. C. W. Styles was soloist, and the Kalaphon Male Quartette also rendered several selections. The chorus singing was from the new and popular hymn book, Christian Endeavor Hymns.

Great enthusiasm was manifested when it was announced that the Fourteenth International Christian Endeavor Convention was to be held in Boston in '95.
Salem is working hard to secure the '95 state convention.

Wedding.

HOLT-GOULD.

The marriage of Esther, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Gould, and Frank L. Holt, one of Valpey Brothers well-known clerks, occurred on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the bride's home in Scotland District. The ceremony was performed by Rev. F. A. Wilson of the Free Church in the presence of relatives of both families. At the conclusion of the marriage service Mr. and Mrs. Holt received the hearty congratulations and best wishes of all present, after which a wedding lunch was served. They were the recipients of many handsome and useful wedding gifts from their friends, many of whom although not present at the wedding will wish them all happiness. They were taken at once to Mr.
Holt's home on Panchard Avenue, where they will reside.

FIVE VILLAGE.

Mr. James Patrick is moving with his family back to Lawrence. They have proved good neighbors and will be missed here.

Miss Jeanie Ritchie is ill with typhoid fever.

Mr. and Mrs. John Collins have the sympathy of their many friends in the loss of their nine months old child who died Wednesday morning. Funeral services were held at the house yesterday afternoon and the remains were buried in the West Cemetery.

The ladies of Andover and vicinity are cordially invited to attend our Fall Opening of Garments and Furs, on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, Oct. 11, 12, and 13, day and evening. Paris Cloak and Suit

A Cure for Chronic Diarrhoea.

I had been troubled with chronic diarrhoea for over a year when I received a small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and diarrhoea Remedy, which I used and it gave me great relief. I then procured a fifty cent bottle and took about two-thirds of it and was cured. I have taken some twice since when I had a looseness come on, and it stopped it at once. I hope it will help others as it has helped me. I feel very thankful to Mr. Stearns, the druggist, for telling me of this remedy and shall be glad to have this letter published. S. C. WEEKS, Melrose, Mass.

Political Conventions.

SENATORIAL.

The republican senatorial convention for this district was held at Lawrence Monday evening. George B. B. Bradley of Methuen was chairman, and Omar P. Chase of this town secretary. Charles W. Paradise was also one of the committee on credentials. On motion of Mr. Drury of Bradford, Senator Gage of Lawrence was re-nominated by acclamation. Mr. Gage was found and made a few remarks of acceptance. The chairmen of the city and town committees were made the senatorial committee for the coming year.

COUNCILOR.

The sixth district councilor convention met at Lowell Tuesday morning. Hon. James Pierce of Malden being chairman. After a spirited contest Dr. John N. Harlow of Woburn was nominated over Elisha H. Shaw of Chelmsford, the vote standing 191 to 98. The Andover delegates supported Mr. Harlow.

COUNTY.

At the republican county convention, held in Haverhill Tuesday forenoon, E. B. Bishop, the present incumbent, was nominated for county commissioner, his vote being 184 and Croy's 89. E. Kendall Jenkins of this town was re-nominated for county treasurer by acclamation, as was C. S. Osgood of Salem, register of deeds for the southern district.

REGISTER OF DEEDS.

The republican Register of deeds convention met at Lawrence yesterday afternoon and nominated A. R. Sanborn of Lawrence as the candidate for that office. The only other name presented to the convention was that of Benj. C. Ames, also a Lawrence lawyer. Hon. N. P. Frye was chairman of the convention, and J. A. Ewart of Lawrence secretary. H. F. Chase of this town was one of the committee to receive, sort and count ballots. The ballot stood, Sanborn 26, Ames 15, the number necessary being 21.

"Bouquet of Cesspool."

A "bouquet of cesspool" that appeals to Heaven is hanging around the corner of Maple Avenue and Elm St. The famous one at Chapman's on Morton St. has a supplement at this northern end of the clay bottomed section that runs from Abbott's meadow to Carmel Hill. I wonder if there is any law of State or Town, any way of enforcing it or any way to appeal to the pockets since nose and conscience have failed us, on the part of these neighbors of ours who have introduced water systems of supply without the proper care of the overflow. Our wise Dr. Pennington prophesied great tribulation in the shape of typhoid dysentery and kindred epidemics when our bog down the Centre got saturated under the old water system. Our hard beset selection says "Make a complaint!" Where shall we find the proper authorities? Meanwhile, I appeal to the community here at the Centre that are going to pay in lives dear to the home-fragile mothers and alert little sons—how many more shall the filth of the bog need for argument?

Obituary.

Friends and acquaintances of Mrs. Edwin C. Upton were sorry to learn of her death at Lowell last Tuesday. It occurred at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. A. F. Swanton, 328 Westworth St. Mrs. Upton was an old and well known resident of this town. About two years ago the family left their home on Salem street and went to live in Lowell. The deceased had reached the advanced old age of 80 years. She was an esteemed member of the South Church and took a great interest in all church matters. In the neighborhood, where she had lived, she was most highly respected, for her kindness, genial disposition and other womanly traits of character, and she will be missed by all who knew her, but more than all in her own home. Besides Mrs. Swanton, and a husband, there is another daughter left, Miss M. Lizzie Upton. The remains were brought to Andover yesterday afternoon, services being conducted at the South Church vestry by Rev. F. R. Shipman. Burial was in the South Cemetery.

BALLARD VALE.

Miss Annie Higgins is visiting relatives at Three Rivers, Mass.

The J. P. Bradley hose company was out for trial last Monday evening.

Mrs. Parkhurst has moved into the Phelps house on Center Street.

A number of the Masonic fraternity from here visited Phoenician Lodge of Lawrence last Wednesday evening.

Mrs. L. F. March has returned from a visit to her mother in North Lubec, Me. She was accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Venbard.

Mr. William Shaw was present at the annual convention of the Essex County Christian Endeavor Union which was held in Amesbury last Tuesday.

Mrs. Woodlin, Mrs. Fessenden and Mrs. John Dearborn attended the Massachusetts State Sunday School Convention in Lowell Wednesday.

Saturday evening about forty couples of the young people assembled in Bradley Hall to give Miss Georgie Herrick a surprise party, as an expression of their friendship and best wishes toward her in anticipation of her coming departure from Ballardvale. Miss Herrick was persuaded to enter the hall by a friend, under the pretext of looking for something that was wanted, when the electric lights were suddenly turned on, revealing to her astonished gaze the goodly assemblage. Miss Herrick's surprise was complete, but she soon recovered herself, and all hands proceeded to trip the light fantastic to the accompaniment of Mr. Joseph Stott's skillful manipulation of the piano. After enjoying the dance for an hour or more, a call came to the bowling hall for refreshments, where ice cream and cake in variety were served to the satisfaction of all.

Following the refreshments dancing was resumed, interspersed with games and social entertainment in general, and closing with a free for all breakdown at half-past eleven. Miss Herrick will make her home in the future with her aunt, Mrs. Jackson Day, of Somerville; and she takes the best wishes of her many friends here.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to extend thanks to friends and neighbors who so kindly and thoughtfully interested themselves in our behalf during my recent illness.

TRY THE ROLLER PROCESS MEAL.

Success depends on keeping pace with the times, and among the many great improvements of the day comes the roller process for grinding grain of all kinds and especially corn. And I desire to call attention to some of the many advantages this process has over the old stone mill. It does not heat the grain by grinding, thereby it retains all of its sweetness, and will keep sweet much longer than that ground with the stone mill.

It makes the meal more uniform; it is perfectly ground, but no part of it is crushed or powdered so fine that it will settle as solid as lead, as is the case with stone ground meal. This makes it very much easier of digestion and far better results are obtained from its use as a feed for stock, either to increase fat or the milk flow, than can be had from the use of the old stone meal.

A hundred pounds of fine ground roller meal will fill a bag eight inches higher than the same weight of stone meal. A barrel of corn on the ear ground with the rolls, fills a barrel six to eight inches higher than will the stone ground meal.

The great advantage of this is that the grain lies just as much lighter in the stomach of the animal to which it is fed as it does in the bag or barrel.

The advantage of the roller over the stone mill in grinding corn on the cob is Immense, No Heating or Sweating, the meal comes from the mill cool and sweet.

If the corn is not thoroughly dry the roll will make good meal of it, which cannot be done with the stone mill.

Roller Cob Meal Does not Require to be Spread and Dried to Keep it from Souring.

It will keep sweet in the barrel until used, if this is done in a reasonable time.

You cannot get as much or as good milk from cows fed on sour and un-sound as from fresh, sweet sound meal; then

Why not have the Best when the Cost is the Same?

A trial is the most convincing evidence we can offer of the truth of these statements, and we invite farmers and others using corn meal to make the trial and judge for themselves.

To those who have corn ground on the ear, I will say that I am certain after you have seen the cob meal made with rolls, you will give up the use of the stone mill forever.

WOMAN'S WORLD.

DR. TALMAGE GIVES HIS IMPRES- SIONS OF WOMEN AS VOTERS.

New Occupations For Women.—The Duchess of York.—The Gainsborough Returns.
Mrs. Amelia Bloomer.—Purity and Politics.—Woman Suffrage Means Peace.

Rev. T. De Witt Talmage has visited New Zealand, and in his usual breezy, sensational style writes home, giving his impressions of the country, which are very favorable. In his letter he says:

Another surprise to me is that female suffrage is in full blast. I found elegant ladies telling of their experience at the ballot box, and I hereby report to the American ladies now moving for the right of female suffrage that New Zealand is clear ahead of them and that the experiment has been made here successfully. Instead of the ballot box degrading woman, woman is here elevating the ballot box.

And why in New Zealand or America or anywhere else should man be so afraid to let woman have a vote? As though man himself had made such a grand use of it! Look at the illiterates and the incompetents who have been elected to office and see how poorly the masculines have exercised the right of suffrage. Look at the governments of nine-tenths of the American cities and see what work the ballot box has done in the possession of man. Man at the ballot box is a failure. Give woman a chance.

I am not clear that governmental affairs will be made any better by the change, but they cannot be any worse.
New Zealand has tried it. Let England and America try it. It is often said in America that if women had the right to vote they would not exercise it. For the refutation of that theory I put the fact that in the last election in New Zealand, of 100,000 women who registered 90,000 have voted, while of the 193,000 men who registered only 129,- 000 have voted. This ratio shows that women are more anxious to vote, than men. Perhaps woman will yet save politics.

I know the charge that she is responsible for the ruin of her race since she first ate the forbidden fruit in paradise, but I think there is a chapter in that matter of Edenic fruit not written. I think that Adam, when he saw Eve eating that apple, asked for a bite, and getting it into his possession ate the most of it, and he immediately shook the tree for more apples and has been eating ever since.

If woman did first transgress, I cannot forget that she introduced into the world the only being who has ever done much toward saving it. Woman has started for suffrage, and she is a determined and persevering creature, and she will keep on until she gets it. She may yet decide the elections in England and elect presidents of the United States, as already she is busy in the political affairs of New Zealand.

New Occupation For Women.

A clever young woman in Chicago has come to the relief of mothers who give children's parties, but do not know what to do with the children after inviting them. Miss Ashburn plans the entertainment, games, dances, etc., makes out the menu for refreshments and directs the laying of the table. She is a fine musician and plays for the dancing herself, but this is not an indispensable qualification, for it is always easy to supply the music. However, there are other requisites for success in the occupation, and first of all is a love for children and a thorough understanding of how to give them a royally good time.

Miss Ashburn is familiar with all the old games and in devising interesting new ones. She enters into the sport with the liveliest zest, leading in the play, and is watchful to draw in the diffident, backward children who otherwise would play the tiresome role of wallflowers. She is clever and ingenuous also in varying her programmes and providing some novelty for the rapidly succeeding parties.

At a recent one the climax was a fishing pond. In a bay window, greened off from the room, were as many parcels as there were guests. A little boy was appointed fisherman and given a fishing rod, and he drew forth the packages.

Each parcel contained a toy, and after Miss Ashburn had called the little folks about her and likened them to the pigeons of Venice, of which she told them, the fishing began. The fascinating uncertainty as to the contents of the packages kept up the interest to the end, and when the last fish was drawn the dining room door was opened, and the little folk went in to enjoy a dainty feast. —Boston Woman's Journal.

The Duchess of York.

The attention of the visitors at St.
Moritz is at present concentrated on the two morning glories of the place—her royal highness the Duchess of York and her mother, the Duchess of Teck, both of whom go about as freely and with as little form as the very natives themselves. There are a few young people in attendance, it is true, but the hotel register alone betrays that. In the morning the Duchess of York walks about with a friend of her own age and seems to be very jolly and having a thoroughly good time, though it consists in nothing more than walking about to the different springs, occasionally stopping to listen to one of the many bands and looking in the jewellers' windows with as much interest as if she had never seen any of the buckets of jewels all her own packed up at St. James palace awaiting her return.

It is surprising there is never a crowd following or surrounding her, perhaps because it is difficult for a stranger to distinguish her among the throngs of English girls going about. She, like the rest, invariably dresses in serge skirt and coat, with sailor hat. You have all read so much about her that I hardly need describe to you a girl taller than the average, with heavy awkward figure, her face strongly of the German type, with very small blue eyes, retrousse nose and large lips—red as to suggest rouge, but with a thoroughly jolly, good natured expression. The Duchess of Teck is so stout that walking is no easy matter, but nevertheless she strolls about among the shops, receiving a very cordial welcome from all, for she is an old habitue of the place, and it is said more generously inclined than her august cousin, Victoriz. —Boston Transcript.

The Gainsborough Returns.

Stepping into an ultra fashionable London shop two weeks ago, I asked the little milliner in charge to show me the very smartest hat designed for the opening season.

With the ubiquitous "Thank you" of the English saleswoman, regardless of whether you or she is doing the favor, my request was granted.

It was a Gainsborough. Had one of the famous framed ladies stepped down from the wall of the academy and offered her picturesque hat for sale the resemblance could not have been more perfect. And this shape beyond all question is to be the correct head covering for winter weather.

Velvet is the material preferred, though felt, of course, is always in vogue. At the right side, set at a coquettish angle, are a bunch of curled cascades, while two narrow bands of velvet overlaid with jet passementerie encircle the crown, and lastly a brilliant jet buckle is decoratively placed, completing a charming coiffure.

The hat must be tilted a bit to the left, and underneath the right side of the brim must be added a long eared bow of light velvet that contrasts prettily with the hair and complexion.

Nine women out of every ten are delighted at the revival of this fashion, for the picturesque is always the most becoming.

The hat I saw was of black velvet and black tips, the jet crystallizing two pink velvet bands, while the bow on the under side was of the same material.

It was sold and sent home later to a New York woman and will probably be the first one worn there, although orders were already being filled for American buyers. —London Letter in Detroit Free Press.

Mrs. Amelia Bloomer.

Not many people know how the name of bloomer came to be applied to the style of woman's dress sometimes called the divided skirt. Mrs. Amelia Bloomer, after whom the garment was christened, resides with her husband in Council Bluffs, their residence today being the one in which they took up their abode 40 years ago, when Council Bluffs, now a city of 25,000 people, was a somewhat straggling village of 300 souls. Mrs. Bloomer, now 76 years old, carries her years easily, her 54 years of married life having been unmarred by other than the fleeciest of temporary clouds. It was in 1851 that she began to wear the costume which is now known throughout the English speaking world as the bloomer.

She was then living at Seneca Falls, N. Y., where she was publishing a temperance paper called The Lily. In addition to being a Prohibition advocate the paper also devoted considerable space to the subject of woman's suffrage.
A Mrs. Miller, who in 1851 paid a visit to Seneca Falls, appeared in the bifurcated dress, and Mrs. Bloomer published a description of it. She and Elizabeth Cady Stanton adopted the style and advocated its general adoption.

Mrs. Bloomer wore the costume on several lecture trips, and in this way it became associated with and finally known by her name. By and by Horace Greeley took the subject up and was followed by other editors, the result being that the bifurcated dress became known all over the country as the bloomer. —Chicago Post.

Purity and Politics.

In the west, says a Woman's Journal correspondent, "the practical inconvenience that might be feared from the vote of immoral women has not been found to result where equal suffrage is an established fact. Judge Kingman of Wyoming says: We have had no trouble from the presence of bad women at the polls. It had been said that the delicious and cultured women would shrink away and the bold and indelicate come to the front in public affairs. This we feared, but nothing of the kind has happened. In Kansas during the early days of municipal suffrage for women an attempt was once or twice made to bring out bad women to vote in the interest of a particular candidate. In each case, as soon as the matter got wind, the good women of the place turned out in great indignation and buried that candidate out of sight under their votes.

"As the good women everywhere outnumbered the bad ones a hundred to one, candidates have grown wary by experience and now avoid any attempt to get the vote of the bad women as they would shun the smallpox. The dispatches from the Colorado elections reported that the three classes of women who generally neglected to vote were the very ignorant, the ultra fashionable and the demimonde. These women, as a rule, take no interest in politics and seldom vote unless special effort is made to bring them out, and the effort, as we have seen, is not made because it has been found that it does not pay."

Woman Suffrage Means Peace.

A political society of men alone, from which women are excluded, cannot maintain permanent peace because male human beings have in excess the belligerent instinct, which needs to be moderated by the humaner instinct of women. An anecdote of Bismarck is of great value as an official confirmation of what was perceived by those who were in a position to observe the French mind before 1870:

"The war of 1870-1 was not desired by Prussia. We were prepared for it.

Knowing the French, we regarded it as certain some day or other. They had beaten the Russians in the Crimea, the Austrians in Italy. Our turn must come.
War on the Rhine was fated, all the more because we had been the victors at Sadova. In 1867, being at Paris with the king, my master, on the occasion of the exhibition, I made the acquaintance of a French marshal—Vail-lant, I believe. He was governor of Paris. We chatted. He said to me, 'We shall cross bayonets some day.' 'Very well, if you like. But, if you please, why?' 'Because we are cocks, and one cock does not like to hear another crow louder than himself. At Sadova you crowed too loud.'"

"Crowing" is an accomplishment confined solely to the male bird. According to Bismarck, it caused the Franco-Prussian war, with all its horrors.—

An Aggressive Club.

One of the women's clubs at the front in aggressive movements is the Travelers' club of western Pennsylvania. The members are all women of ability, many of the women of leisure, though the majority are actively engaged in many other progressive movements in Allegheny City, both educational and philanthropic. During the past year the club has taken up for its study the history, literature, art and sociology of France. An interesting portion of the course was the study of the influential women of the nation. This study was enlivened by the discussion of such live topics as "Environment Versus Heredity," "Woman's Influence in Municipal Reform," "Should Hospitals Be Supported by the State?" and "Organized Work of Women—Its Help and Hindrance?" The study for the coming year will be Italy. Miss Jennie Hindman at the last meeting was re-elected president of the club, making this her third term. She is the sister of that good suffrage worker, Miss Matilda Hindman.

Up With the Times.

As the trains disgorged their living freight in Jersey City the other afternoon about 4 o'clock a tall, graceful, stylishly dressed young woman entered one of the ferryboats bound for the Cortland street slip. She walked leisurely through the boat to the forward deck, beckoned imperiously to an astonished small knight of the brush standing there, placed her foot upon his box and gazed placidly out over the water.

The passengers in the cabin looked on in mild surprise, and an Italian who stood near was utterly absorbed by the spectacle. Two business men also looked carelessly on.

"A woman has to do everything that a man does these days," said one, with a bored air, "and now she is having her boots blacked."

But she was not. They were tan shoes, and she was having them polished. —New York Times.

A Chance For Women.

Several women are taking orders for Christmas presents now. They supply growing plants, the presents that most people love to give. The growing plant woman inquires if you would like to give your sister, your aunt or your cousin a rubber plant, tall and green, or a stately, spreading palm, or perhaps a big pot of calla lilies. She also asks about the flowerpot.

Would you prefer a handsome blue one, with lovely raised work upon it?
Then she goes down town, gets the pot and starts the plant. By Christmas time it will be very beautiful.

The beauty of this arrangement is that the woman who buys the present is charged only the full price of the pot and a nominal sum for the plant—25 cents or so. The commission on the pot and the "quarter" pays the merchant for her trouble in caring for the plants.

Mrs. Barrie's Request.

Mr. J. M. Barrie, who confessedly married that he might use his wife's hairpins to clean his pipes, has, it seems, instead laid down his pipe altogether at the request of the owner of the hairpins. Before we sympathize too much with the author of that charming reverie, "My Lady Nicotine," or frown too harshly on the tyrant bride, let it be added that Mrs. Barrie only "requested," after Mr. Barrie's recent illness, caused entirely, it is said, by persistent smoking. This devotee of tobacco was accustomed to smoke from morning until midnight, stopping only for his meals.

To Perfume Money.

A "money disinfectant" is the latest invention meant to woo coins from feminine pocketbooks. It is a perfumed button with a sandalwood fragrance intended to place in the pockets of a purse to sweeten the rumpled, greasy bills which carry unpleasant suggestions of their previous abiding places.

The New Jersey law, passed this year, that there must be nine school trustees called out a special meeting in Hammonton, N. J., and three women were elected as part of the nine—Miss Anna Pressey, Mrs. Ezra Packard and Mrs. Beverage.

In New York there are now 20 or more "trained janitresses" who earn $400 a year and upward. The first woman janitor began her work about two years ago. She took care of an apartment house.

A recent act of the Louisiana legislature makes it a misdemeanor for any retail liquor dealer to allow any woman to sell liquor.

Sixteen women were this year elected members of the American Association For the Advancement of Science.

Miss Frances E. Willard has been granted the degree of doctor of laws by the Ohio Wesleyan university.

the first Republican woman ever nominated for a state legislature.

of the beneficial results he has received from a regular use of Ayer's Pills. He says: "I was feeling sick and tired and my stomach seemed all out of order. I tried a number of remedies, but none seemed to give me relief until I was induced to try the old reliable Ayer's Pills. I have taken only one box, but I feel like a new man. I think they are the most pleasant and easy to take of anything I ever used, being so finely sugarated that even a child will take them. I urge upon all who are in need of a laxative to try Ayer's Pills. They will do good."

TAYLOR'S PISTOL

Borrowed by Keegan on the Day of a Murder.

Was Returned With the Cartridges Missing—Evidence Which Makes It Look Gloomy For the Alleged Murderer.

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 4.—Lawrence A. Keegan has been placed under arrest, charged with the murder of Mrs. Emily Chambers in Scituate on Thursday last. He was taken into custody at his home, 62 Dexter street, about noon yesterday. He was turned over to High Sheriff White in the afternoon.

Keegan is a careworn, and although he has held up well under the strain of evidence that points strongly to him, there is now but the faintest doubt but that he knows more about Mrs. Emily Catherine Chambers, the murdered woman, than he desires to divulge. He denies having seen the woman since early in September, when she asked him to sign pension documents for her.

It is a positive fact that he has seen her since. He has been with the murdered woman no less than three times within two weeks. Two women and one man have seen Keegan in Mrs. Chambers' company since early in September. The evidence is tightening around Keegan in an alarming manner.

"Afraid of Tramps." Last Thursday morning he called on Arthur J. Taylor, who is in a hat store at 140 North Main street, and tried to borrow his revolver, saying that he wished to go into the country that afternoon, and was afraid of tramps. Taylor put him off, so Keegan went to the young man's home and asked his father, W. J. Taylor, for the revolver, and got it. He then went back to the store and filled the chambers of the revolver with cartridges and went off.

Friday night Keegan returned the revolver without the cartridges, and Saturday morning called at the store and delivered five cartridges to young Taylor, taking them from a paper in his pocket. On Tuesday the elder Taylor read about the suspicions of Keegan and asked him about the revolver affair. Keegan shook like an aspen leaf, and said, "That is damaging against me."

At Young's livery stable it seems that on Sept. 30 Keegan and a woman, believed to have been Mrs. Chambers, hired a horse and phaeton. He returned at night without the woman. Keegan was identified yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. Drummond as the man they had seen with Mrs. Chambers on several occasions.

Will Plead Not Guilty. Keegan will plead not guilty, and will attempt to prove an alibi. An effort was made last night to persuade Keegan to make a confession, but he persisted in his denial of guilt. He says he never was in Scituate and does not know the roads in that section. He claims to have been drunk on Wednesday and Thursday; that he can prove that he was in local saloons all the afternoon; that he went to supper and retired between 1 and 1:30 o'clock.

Although he has contradicted himself in minor details, he persists in general points and refuses to make any other statement. Keegan is well known in town as a general leader and has been sober only occasionally in the past 10 years.

The body of Mrs. Chambers was interred at the North burial ground yesterday afternoon.

Pawtucket Weavers Strike. PROVIDENCE, Oct. 4.—Between 100 and 200 weavers in the worsted weaving department of the Lorraine mills at Pawtucket struck yesterday on account of a reduction of wages. In an interview with the president of Textile union, branch No. 60, William J. Welch, it was found that this strike was not ordered by the union, but that the members of the union struck before receiving orders to do so. It is claimed by the weavers that their wages have been cut 20 per cent.

Five more towns vote no license this year than last. The women's vote has fallen off 700, from about 5700 to 5000.

THE WEATHER BUREAU.

A Brief Review of the Weather Conditions of the Season of '94.

BOSTON, Oct. 4.—The New England weather bureau issues the following review for the season and report for the past week:

Fruit buds started very rapidly in March in the warm weather, and at first it was feared that the cold wave of the 27th and 28th had injured them very much, but the crops do not show it now. The April weather was favorable and the season was nearly two weeks ahead of the average at the end of the month, but the dry weather of the first half of May and the excess of rain and cloudy weather in the last half, with the cold spells and frosts of the 14th and 16th, retarded all work and growth of vegetation. Hot weather prevailed the last of June, with very little rain during the month, and a drought began to be felt. Grass and grain matured too rapidly and hood crops suffered. There was plenty of rain in the northern part of Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine during July during the past season, but in all southern districts the drought was intensified by general want of rain, and on the 18th, 23rd and last few days of the month by the exceedingly hot and drying weather. During the first week in August some temporary relief was given over most parts of our district by moderate showers, but still no general rain came during this month or in September until the third week.

The amount of precipitation from Jan. 1 to Sept. 1 was 18.05 inches less than the normal amount at Eastport, Me., 10.84 inches less at Northfield, Vt., 8.76 inches at Boston, 12.63 inches at Nantucket, Mass., 15.21 inches at New Haven, and 13.97 inches at New London, Conn. At Southington, Conn., there were 6.40 inches less than the normal amount of rain in the three summer months. At Amherst, Mass., the deficiency for the summer months amounts to 8.57 inches.

In the greater part of the three northern states the week has given favorable weather for harvesting, and most of the crops are in. Corn is husking out a fine crop. Potatoes continue to turn out better than expected in New Hampshire and Vermont, and are reported up to the average in Maine. Beans are very nice and were secured in good shape. Fields are looking well, though a few new seeded pieces are dead. Apples are variable, but some report them better than expected on picking time.

Had a Bad Season. GLOUCESTER, Mass., Oct. 2.—The Gloucester fisheries this year have been very unprofitable, for scarcely a firm has paid the expense of its outfit. The marked disappearance of halibut, mackerel and codfish has caused a demand for herring, which, 30 years ago, was of little consequence. But this is an industry that has been wholly developed by the people of this city, and today it is one of the most important connected with the fisheries.

Attacked by Howlers. HANOVER, N. H., Oct. 1.—A crowd of six Dartmouth students and treated them to a dose of eggs and stones. One student was hurt. Finally the students opened fire and shot a man named Marston in the arm. The cause of the assault is unknown. More trouble is likely to follow.

Offices Filled by Clergymen. PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 4.—The Maine Baptist Educational Society elected the following officers: Rev. D. H. S. Burrage, president; Rev. J. H. Burrows, vice president; Rev. C. E. Owen, secretary; Rev. W. H. Spencer, treasurer; Professor E. W. Hall, auditor. The proposition to form a Young People's union was voted down.

Children Kidnapped. SALEM, Mass., Oct. 4.—Four men forcibly kidnapped from the residence of Mrs. A. H. Glendon yesterday her two children, and Mrs. Glendon claims that her husband was one of the men. Several years ago Mrs. Glendon's husband sued her for divorce, but was defeated, and she was given the custody of the children.

Woodbury Had a Big Lead. RUTLAND, Vt., Oct. 4.—The following is the result of the official canvass of votes for governor presented at the opening of the legislature: Woodbury, Republican, 6585; Smith, Democrat, 13,149; Whitman, Prohibitionist, 467; McGinnis, Populist, 730. Woodbury's plurality, 20,514; Woodbury's majority, 28,311.

Hutchinson, aged 70, "the sweet singer of Lynn," has been sued for $5000 damages for alleged breach of promise by Mrs. Mary McDonald, a widow of 30 years. She claims that the contemplated marriage was broken off by the interference of Hutchinson's daughter.

Hough leaves $4000 to churches in East Longmeadow, bequeaths $1000 each to the American Seamen's Friend society, the Woman's American Baptist Foreign Missionary society and the Woman's American Baptist Home Mission society.

Saved the Cargo. PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 4.—During a gale the lobster smacker, Edith M. Thompson was driven ashore on Hagged island. Her crew got off safely and saved the cargo of 2500 lobsters, but the craft went to pieces.

Had For Fishing Smacker. SACO, Me., Oct. 1.—Many fishing smackers went ashore at Biddeford pool during a heavy gale. The sailboat Kate went ashore at Stage island. The boat is a total wreck. The crew escaped.

HEALTH GUARANTEED.

The Strongest Guarantee on Earth Is that Given With Allen's Sarsaparilla!

READ IT AND FURTHER PROOF OF THE EFFICACY OF THIS REMEDY.

A Guarantee that Guarantees!! A Remedy that Cures!!!

Here's Proof that It Cures Blood Trouble and Constipation.

We frequently hear people say that a guarantee don't amount to anything. However that may be with other preparations, it amounts to just this with Allen's Sarsaparilla, every bottle has a guarantee label near the bottom. If no benefit is derived by the time it is taken down to this label, it can be returned to us, according to directions on the label and we will refund the full price; provided it is taken regularly and according to directions, and for the diseases for which we recommend it, and provided it is not purchased at a discount from the retail price. No remedy without wonderful properties, and sold at so low a price, could be guaranteed under these terms. We are convinced by our experience and by the strong testimonials that are constantly pouring in, that we are perfectly safe in guaranteeing Allen's Sarsaparilla.

F. E. LANDERS, of Denton Falls, Me., writes:—I had a severe kidney trouble, and could not straighten up or walk. I was advised to take Sarsaparilla. I took two well-known kinds but got no benefit and was at last induced to try Allen's. I took two bottles and am today a well man. I am now able to do a hard day's work in the pulp mill every day, and have no signs of a return of my old trouble, nor do I expect to. I would advise anybody troubled with kidney disease to give Allen's Sarsaparilla a good trial. It saved my life.

Miss JOSE WILSON of South Walpole, Mass., writes:—I have been troubled for a number of years with a terrible disease called eczema. My face was a terrible sight, all red blotches. I tried everything and was on the point of giving up in despair, when someone recommended Allen's Sarsaparilla, and I have only used one bottle and my face is almost well, and there are no pimples on it at all now. I cannot speak too highly of it, and have recommended it to a great many of my friends who now have great faith in it. I shall get some more and keep on using it as I know it is doing me good.

F. E. GLEASON of Lexington, Mass., writes:—I had an internal abscess and was confined to my bed five weeks; was completely prostrated and worn out with pain. I commenced taking your Sarsaparilla and found my strength coming back, and after taking two bottles consider myself well. I take pleasure in recommending your Sarsaparilla to all my friends and to the public. My wife has also taken it for consumption, and considers it the best of any Sarsaparilla.

Obituary.

MISS ALICE WRIGLEY.

With the departure of a bright young life but a little while before so filled with promise and hope, the heavy hand of affliction was rested upon the family of Mr. John Wrigley of Sutton street. Sabbath, during the noon hour after an illness of about two months, Miss Alice Wrigley the oldest child was gently withdrawn from the home circle where she was tenderly loved. She was born in Saugus 21 years ago but with the exception of about three years has resided with her parents here. She attended the town schools, Miss Tucker of the Bradstreet school being her last teacher. She afterward became an operative in the spooling department in the Sutton Mills. After working there about six years she obtained a situation in the finishing department in the Washington Mills, a place which she held until illness obliged her to leave. She was a member of St. Paul's church and of the Girls Friendly Society.

While the early death is very deeply mourned within the home it is also sincerely regretted by the wide circle of friends in the vicinity. A brief service of prayer was conducted at the house at half-past one o'clock Tuesday afternoon conducted by Rev. E. S. Thomas, rector of St. Paul's church, which was followed by a public service at two o'clock in the church which was largely attended. The hymn "Lead Kindly Light" was sung by a choir of young ladies from the Girl's Friendly Society. Messrs. Wm. Mitchell, John Smith, Charles Drow and James Elliott served as bearers.

Beautiful tributes of affection and esteem surrounded the casket and included Gates Ajar, with the inscription "Alice" from employees in the Washington Mills; wreath with initials "G. F. S.", Girls Friendly Society; clusters of 21 pinks, Miss Helen Bonney of Lawrence, Miss McCormick, Lawrence, Misses Emma and Lottie Goff, Miss Margaret Milner, Misses Emma Somerville, Annie Cooper, Peter Haigh, Saugus; crescent, Mrs. William Home and family of Lawrence; raised star, neighbors; cluster of 21 carnations, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Patchett; wreath, Mrs. S. A. Hilton, Andover; pillow, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Midwood; cluster of pinks, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Rhodes, Andover; 21 roses, Messrs. Walker and Herbert Haigh, Salem, N. H.; cluster of roses, Miss Ellen Horner, Lawrence; basket, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Haigh, Lawrence; bouquet, Messrs. John Smith and Charles Drow.
